HELPFUL HINTS FOR HOLIDAY PARTIES

First, if you think the party might bother you too much, don't go.

If you're not too sure of yourself, but would like to try it anyhow, go late and leave early. (Or go early and leave early.)

Just say, "I'll have a ginger ale, please."

It helps always to hold a half-full glass in your hand. Then you can say, "No thanks, I still have one."

Don't go into a lengthy discussion of why you're not drinking. A simple "I prefer ginger ale tonight" usually works.

While you're at the party, think of where you came from and how awful it would be to go back.

Don't fool yourself into thinking that maybe "just one" won't hurt. Remember all the stories you've heard about people who thought that way and where they ended up.

Have a good time. You'll be surprised at how easy it is and how much more fun it is to know what you're doing, instead of having to wait till the next day to hear the facts (probably unpleasant) from somebody else.

Take a look around the room once in a while and thank God you feel the way you do instead of the way some others do.

Think, too, of how hard it was to reach the point you've reached in AA and how much harder it will be to reach it again — if you can. Think of all the alcoholics who still suffer. Some probably don't even know what season it is.

Maybe you have been picked to help one of them find his (or her) life again.

Your Birthday Gift to Central Office

Many A.A. members share their birthdays with those who need the same help and opportunity that A.A. gave to them.

By sending a donation to Central Office you share your birthday with Recovery Times readers. Send a dollar ($1.00) a year - or $1.00 for each year of your sobriety - or send as much as you wish to give to celebrate your birthday. The amount doesn't matter - it's the "counting" that counts.

May your special day be filled with joy from morning until night, and may the "24's" that lie ahead be especially glad and bright.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY!

SEVEN FREEDOMS OF A NEW WAY OF LIFE

The New Way of Life is a life of freedom. The alcoholic seldom realizes what a slave he is. Temporary confinement in jails, hospitals and rest homes are the least important of the curtailments of his freedom. He is a slave not only to drink but to his detective self as well. The New Way of Life gives back to the A.A. member his freedom, if he follows it faithfully. Having lost his freedom, he can now properly appreciate it. What freedom does he gain or regain?

1. Freedom from hate. The alcoholic usually becomes a bundle of resentments. Through the New Way of Life, he comes to understand that his fellow man is beset with difficulties too. He learns human sympathy and tolerance. He comes to realize that it is the lot of our common humanity to be weak, that his frailty calls for help, not hatred. He learns that it is more fun to create than to destroy. He learns that many of his resentments were inspired by the unworthy motive of debasing others to his own unenviable level.

2. Freedom from guilt. A guilty conscience goes hand in hand with drinking. A clear conscience may not cure alcoholism, but it helps. Our recovery can start only after we have made amends to those we have wronged, or proved our willingness to do so. We must be able to live with ourselves before we are good company to others. The A.A. program, literally followed, frees us from a sense of guilt.

3. Freedom from want. Most A.A. members find themselves more prosperous than they ever were when they were drinking. The typical alcoholic is a person with considerable talent and he can turn his aptitudes into good paychecks when he has been sober long enough to regain the confidence of his associates. When he “dries out,” however, it is necessary for his permanent recovery to begin paying back the sums he probably borrowed in his drinking days. It’s next to impossible to dodge creditors and whiskey at the same time. Therefore, for a time the new A.A. member may not enjoy his reacquired earning capacity fully. For a time he might have to economize to pay back old debts, but the results will be richly rewarding. By and large, however, the New Way of Life will provide a freedom from want never known before.

4. Freedom from fear. Most alcoholics suffer from one or more of a variety of anxieties. To escape from these fears has been an aim, consciously or unconsciously, of much drinking. Sometimes these have been compulsive fears. Sometimes they have been bafflement at the unknown. Sometimes they have been vague general fears of what the future has in store. Some times specific fears. The New Way of Life may not provide complete freedom from fear; it certainly will not do it all at once. But in placing our lives in the hands of God, as we understand Him, we find that our anxieties are reduced, that we have the necessary courage to cope with them. They become manageable. We come to see that the big thing of escaping certain insanity or death makes our fears seem small in comparison. New courage comes with the New Way of Life.

SEVEN FREEDOMS OF A NEW WAY OF LIFE (cont'd)

5. Freedom from self. When sober, the alcoholic often displays many commendable traits of altruism. When drinking, his personality becomes entirely egocentric. He pushes aside and does not consider the well being of his family, the good will of his friends, or his own good name. Two things only matter to him, his ego and his alcohol. They, more and more, become one, so that in truly chronic alcoholism, the alcoholic feels that his drink is essential to the support of his ego, almost to life itself.

It is perhaps in the disciplining of the ego that the New Way of Life has scored its most spectacular success. By iterating and reiterating the idea of service to others, it draws the alcoholic's thoughts away from self. By providing him with a way to support his thoughts with action, it enables him to build up new behavior patterns of unselfishness. He learns what is at the center and core of nearly all religions; namely, that the human personality is inviolable, has dignity, is worthwhile and must be respected. In learning to respect others, he learns a genuine respect for himself. In serving others, he serves himself.

6. Freedom from frustrations. In this area, progress will be slowest and least encouraging. Nevertheless, I am convinced that if the A.A. program is to succeed over a considerable period of time, the alcoholic must learn to resolve his conflicts. We must frankly and fearlessly face the fact that we are neurotic, which is only another way of saying that in one way or another we are frustrated. Alcoholism is one of the ways of neurotic behavior, one of the outcroppings of frustration. Impatience is another, when carried to an extreme. A.A. provides two ready-made answers which are very helpful in combating frustrations. "Easy Does It" and "First Things First." Frustrations are stubborn things to fight. It is for this reason more than any other that the alcoholic is only reprieved, never pardoned. He must follow the New Way of Life and continue to follow it. The New Way of Life may not free the alcoholic of all his frustrations, but they will become manageable. From the source of all strength will come strength and wisdom adequate for his needs.

7. Freedom from despair. The New Way of Life offers hope. The alcoholic begins to be happy again and to enjoy life. These are indicative of hopefulness and are good. It is good, too, for the A.A. member to march forward again to new accomplishments through his regained self-confidence. The New Way of Life offers a spiritual freedom from despair which is greatest of all. One is freed from the death in life, which is living without purpose. He is freed from his faith in nothing. He is freed from the cynicism that nothing has meaning, and that death is a complete and final defeat. The New Way of Life confirms that life is worth the struggle. That happiness is worth the effort, and that God is good.

In our prayers we have often said, "Thank God I'm sober." Let us add, "Thank God I'm free!"

My Prayer

So far today, God, I've done all right.

I haven't had a drink, haven't gossiped, haven't lost my temper, haven't been greedy, grumpy, nasty or self-centered.

I'm really glad about that.

But in a few minutes, God, I'm going to get out of bed, and then I'm going to need a lot of help.

Thank you.

"I got big-hearted this morning and gave a bum five dollars."

"What did your husband say about that?"

"Thanks."

A sponsor is someone who sees through you and still sees through you.

Adam and Eve had an ideal marriage. He didn't have to hear about all the men she could have married, and she didn't have to hear about the way his mother cooked.

A drunk is in front of the judge. The judge says, "You've been brought here for drinking." The drunk says, "Okay, let's get started."

Never test the depth of the water with both feet.

Always remember - your unique. Just like everyone else.

The drunk riding the bus kept throwing little pieces of paper out the window. The lady beside him asked him why he was doing this. "It scares away the elephants," he answered. "But I don't see any elephants," the curious lady replied. Said the drunk, "Works good, doesn't it?"

My Prayer

Many folks want to serve their Higher Power, but only as advisors.

It is easier to preach ten sermons than to live one.

Prayer: Don't give your Higher Power instructions - just report for duty!

Rule #62: "Don't take yourself too damn seriously."

Help us! Think of a caption for the photo!

Give it a try - let your imagination fly.

Next month we will post some of the submissions so you can see what some of the other wonderfully wacky people are thinking.
